Manners and Courtesy

We are looking for the person that has learned the social graces of courtesy and politeness that shows itself in the following forms: “Yes,” “No,” “Please,” “Thank You,” “I did it and I’m sorry” (does not make excuses), goes out of his or her way to show appreciation with a card or note or a special trip to say thanks, and in table manners.

Submit a letter of reference (a non-relative) addressing manners and courtesy.

A letter of reference is included. Yes No

Athletics

The point is to reward effort. Excellence will be rewarded with the varsity letter. It is much harder to sit on the end of the bench than to be the team hero. Team equipment managers are eligible. Students who have learned a lifetime sport in school and outside of school are given preference. Cite individual sports (tennis, golf, bowling, swimming, racquetball, etc.); if coached by a professional and if you compete.
